

Sage Hancock

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, ELIZABETH SMART FOUNDATION™
DIRECTOR OF IMPACT, MALOUF FOUNDATION™

Sage Hancock is passionate about making an impact and creating positive change, especially when it comes to women's rights and advocacy. As executive director of the Elizabeth Smart Foundation and director of impact at the Malouf Foundation™, Sage helps oversee the strategic development and planning of each organization.

In both of her roles, Sage prioritizes the foundations' financial success by fostering valuable relationships with major donors, nonprofits, and corporate partners, as well as persistently pursuing grant opportunities. Sage also has several years of operational experience which guides both foundations toward future goals through impact analysis, careful consideration of spending, and leading with passion through grounded efforts.

Sage has several years of direct nonprofit experience. She's helped grow nonprofits from their beginning stages, served on several nonprofit boards, and aided in the donation and grant solicitation process for various local causes. She is currently completing a Master of Business Administration degree.
